

Origins of Logical Reasoning Workshop

York University, Toronto
Ross Hall, South Tower, Room 421
May 5, 2016 - May 6, 2016

THURSDAY, MAY 5th

2:00 Welcoming Remarks

2:20 Josep Call (University of St. Andrews)

“Avoiding the empty cup: Is there anything more to apes’ inferential reasoning?”

3:40 Coffee Break

4:00 Michael Rescorla (University of California at Santa Barbara)

“Logic, probability, and exclusion transitions”

FRIDAY, MAY 6th

10:00 Susan Carey (Harvard University)

“Does prelinguistic thought include symbols for the abstract relations same and different?”

11:20 Hayley Clatterbuck (University of Rochester)

“The representational requirements for logical thought”

12:40 Lunch

2:00 Roman Feiman and Shilpa Mody (Harvard University)

“The developmental origins of truth-functional negation”

3:20 Coffee Break

3:40 Christopher Peacocke (Columbia University)

“What is logical inference?”

5:00 General Discussion

This event is generously supported by York University’s Department of Philosophy, Cognitive Science Program, Department of Psychology, Faculty of Liberal Arts & Professional Studies, and Office of the Vice-President, Research and Innovation.